Our Dedication

There is one member of the faculty of Randolph-Henry High School who has played an integral part in the progress of our school since its opening day. She has proved to be an understanding friend, a wise counsellor, and an excellent teacher of mathematics. By her selfless devotion to her work as sponsor of the Magazine Campaign throughout the years she has made possible many important contributions to our school. To repay in part our inexpressible debt to her, We, the Seniors of 1961, with deep pride, respect, and admiration, dedicate this volume of The Log to

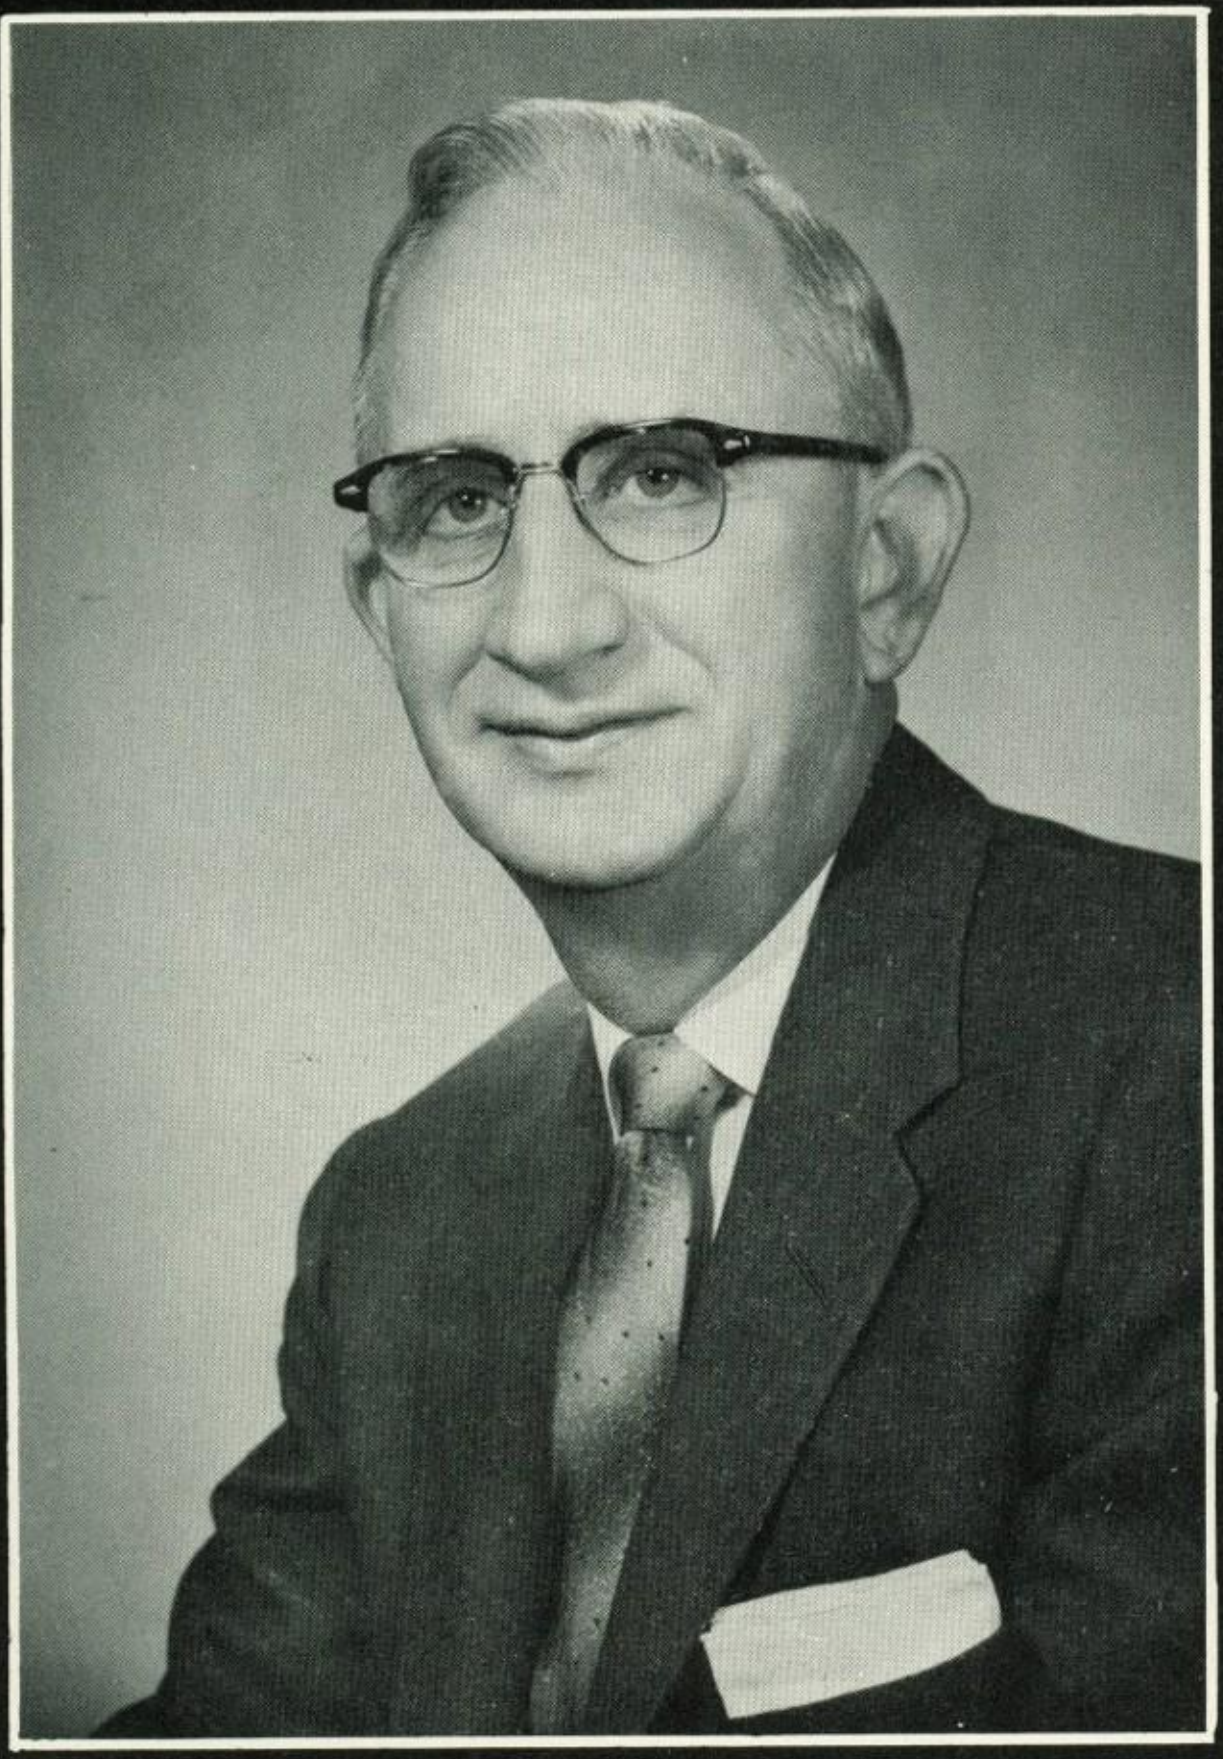
MISS MAUDE CLAY PUGH

ADMINISTRATION

To instruct, and to guide young people; to present a standard of intelligence and morality for these formative years; to improve the purposes and the dreams of adolescence; and to indicate the correct way of living—these are the labors of a high school administration. Varied and often difficult duties fall to these adults as they work day after day in charge of 600 students. Our mental, physical, and spiritual growth are supervised by them; our activities are sponsored by them; and our privileges are granted by them. They are instructors, educators, and advisors of Randolph-Henry—as vital to these buildings as the students themselves.

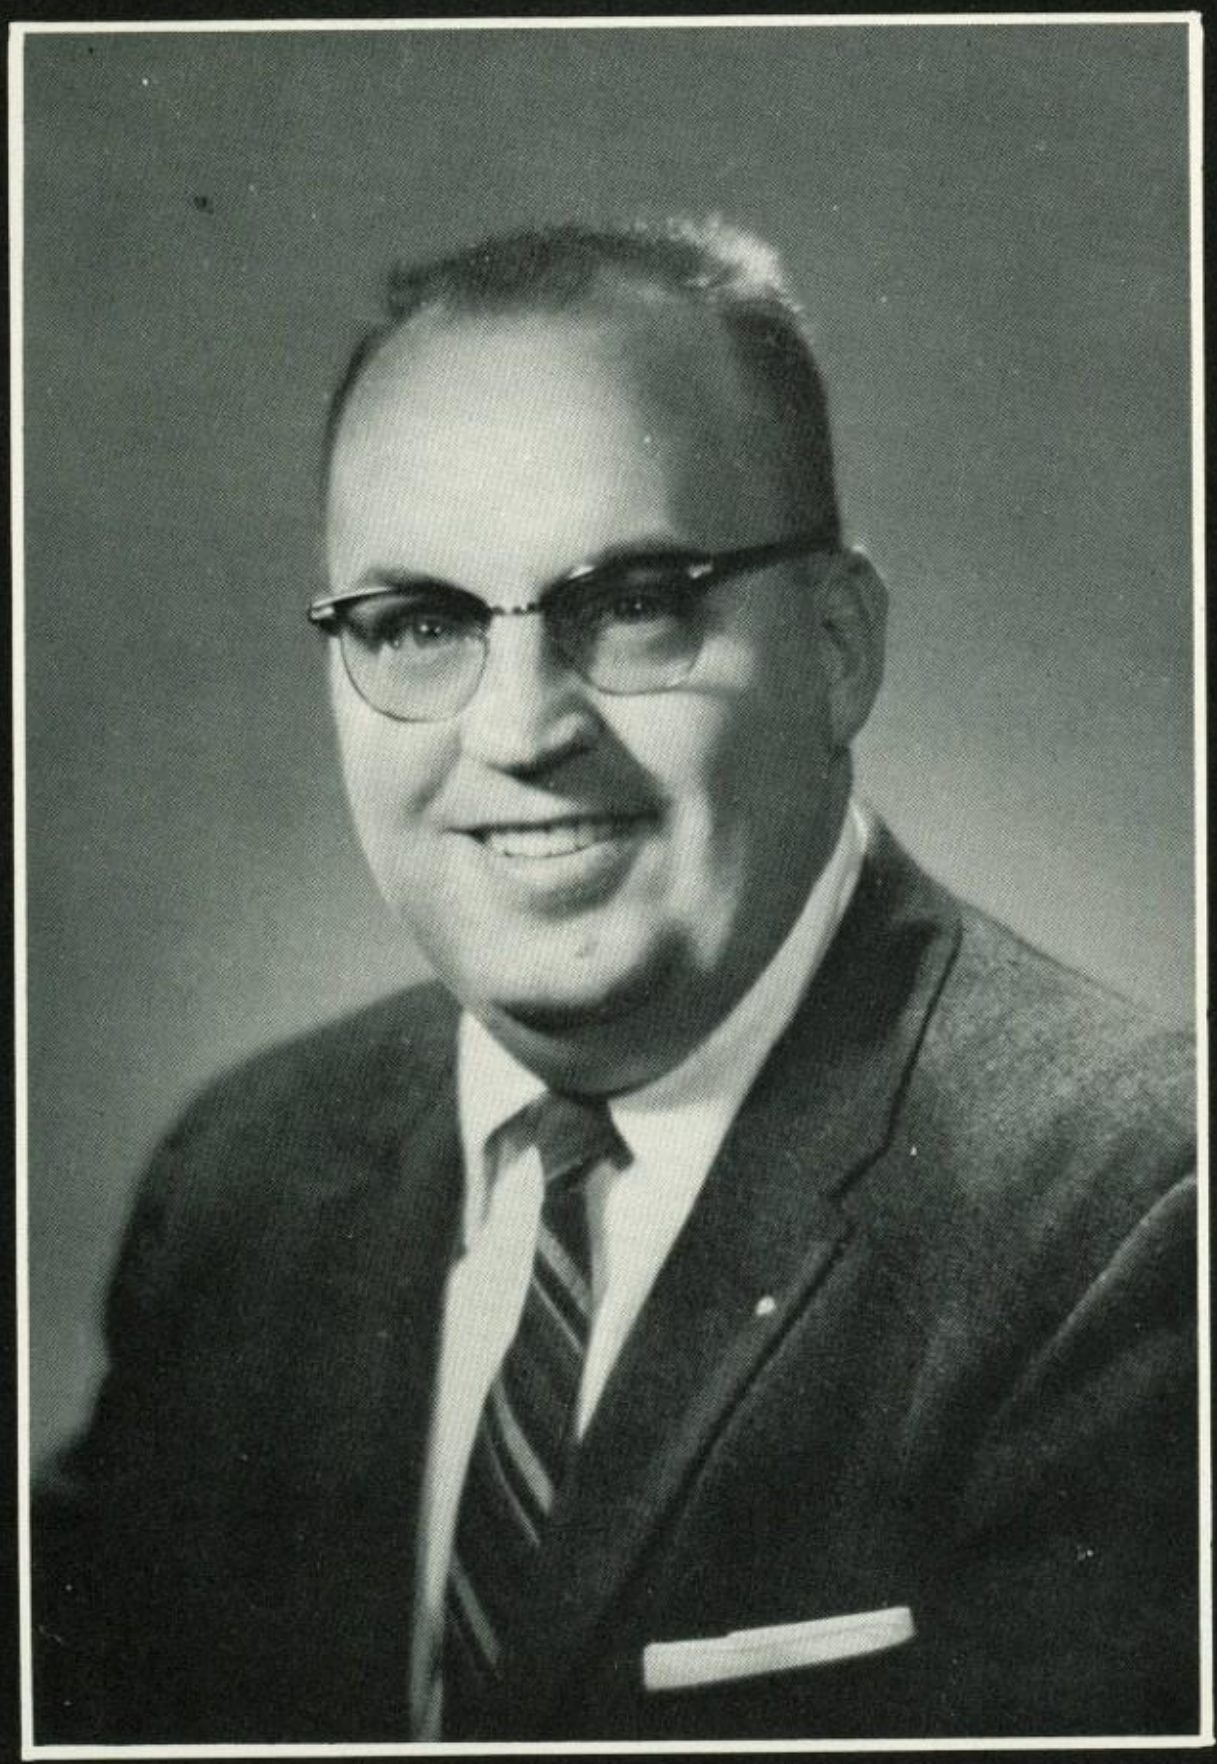
Charlotte County Board of Education

Mr. R. S. Chamberlayne, Jr., Mr. Purcell Hamlett, Mr. G. O. McGhee, clerk; Mr. Judd Jackson, Chairman; Mr. J. F. Lyle, Mrs. F. X. Barksdale, Mr. R. F. Maloney. These people have given many hours for the betterment of young people in Charlotte County. They are the civic minded citizens who have made our school district what it is. They are responsible for our wonderful faculty, our numerous courses, and our physical plant. Truly we are grateful.



MR. GRANT O. McGHEE
Superintendent of Charlotte County Schools

Mr. McGhee has been superintendent of the Charlotte County Public Schools since 1958. Under his capable leadership our schools have attained excellent recognition and have made outstanding contributions to our county and state.



MR. ORAL E. WARE
Principal

Mr. Ware, principal of Randolph-Henry High School for the current school year, has already proven himself to be a wise counsellor, helpful director, and an inspiring leader. Teachers and students seek his advice and value his opinions. Under his administration our school has accomplished much in all fields of academic endeavor.

Mrs. Lucy Garber
School Nurse

Mrs. Garber cares for those who become sick at school. Her first aid kit is always handy when needed. She works untiringly to keep us healthy.

Mrs. Grace Cooper
Cafeteria Manager

Mrs. Cooper, and her helpers Mrs. St. John, Miss Lipscomb, Mrs. Covington, (not shown) and Mattie Stitts are responsible for our lunches every day. They truly help us on our way.

Janitors

Hillary Gregory, Ed Bird, Mattie Jones and Betty Smith are responsible for the maintenance of our buildings. It is no easy task to keep Randolph-Henry clean and attractive.

Bus Drivers

They drag themselves out of bed at dawn to face an empty bus that is soon to be crowded with noisy teenagers. In cold or hot weather these drivers furnish our transportation. Timeliness and patience are required of them, along with a thorough knowledge and ability concerning the rules of the road.

CLASSES

A student body divided into five segments inhabits the halls of Randolph-Henry. Each division is a year of progress, and of maturity. Recognition for improvement and advancement seems remote to the fledgling pre-freshmen, but it is evident to the venerable senior. The senior section of the auditorium is held dear to those who spend their final year here. This and other honors will be passed on to those to come as we leave Randolph-Henry behind. Soon these pre-freshmen will become the seniors, and eventually all of us will be the alumni, the past of Randolph-Henry. Our memories and accomplishments are left behind only in the unwritten history of the school. For we, the students, were this year the spirit and the life of Randolph-Henry.

Senior Planning Board

The class officers and two elected representatives from each of the three senior home rooms make up this board. As the name implies, this group plans all activities for our final and glorious senior year. The principal and the senior sponsors aid and advise the planning board whenever the members feel the need of help.

ACTIVITIES

The liveliness of the school year presents itself in many ways, both in and out of the classroom. The opportunities of activity are unlimited, as there is a place for everyone in the organizations of Randolph-Henry. The intellectual and the athlete can each fulfill their interests in at least one of our clubs. These associations provide the participants with the fellowship that is so important to young people. They offer also a purpose in working together for a mutual goal, be it Homecoming, or the sponsoring of a dance. Here we may discover where our talents and destinies lie, for this is the testing ground for our abilities.

Log Staff

Five hundred identical Logs were published this year. Some of these annuals will be stored in the bottom of a chest, and some will be displayed on a table in the bedroom to one day welcome an adult returning from college. Some will be misplaced as we move to a new home. But none are forgotten. Many years from now, in the fall of our lives, some of us will open this book again. The pictures and the captions will mean more to us then, when our classes exist no more and these are faraway, dim memories. For us, The 1961 Log is, and always will be, the magic of memory and the immortality of Randolph-Henry.

We elect our own leaders and form policies for the school with the guidance of the faculty. We execute our own projects and use the profits from them for the good of the school. Extra-curricular activities are guided and supported by the S.C.A., when performed by other school organizations. But, more often, they are the responsibility of the Council itself, which labors constantly in diligent and efficient efforts to improve Randolph-Henry.

"Toward new horizons"

The young girls of the Future Homemakers club are in training for womanhood. They are learning the method of making and preserving a home, a responsibility that can be delegated only to a woman. Cooking and sewing are two of the arts the girls are taught; others are just as important. Etiquette and other small hints for housewives will someday be the cement for their marriages, and for happy homes.

The Latin Club consists of students who have had one or more years of Latin. The club meetings are devoted to the study of Roman customs and the contributions that the Romans have made to our way of life. The assembly program of this club is one that can be depended upon to be both interesting and informative.

The Library club is composed of outstanding students who contribute their time to make the library the real heart of our school. The attractive bulletin boards and displays keep the student body aware of what is going on in the world as well as in our school. Through their efforts the library is not only a place to get information but also an attractive spot in which to brouse.

One Act Play
"The First Mrs. Paris"

Dramatics

Finding satisfaction in something that is 90% hard work, the members of the play casts donate their time and efforts for the entertainment of others. The rewards are intangible—a few seconds of applause, or the warm feeling of greasepaint on their faces—but they mean more to these people than anyone can imagine.

Forensic Team

Group 2, District 3 Winner

Participation in the District III, Group II contest has been a rewarding experience for Randolph-Henry students. Last year we won the trophy for the third consecutive year which made this coveted award our permanent possession. The team which represented our school in district competition won the following awards:

Margaret Clardy, First place in girl's public speaking.

Mary Morton, First place in poetry reading.

John Ray Duffer, First place in boy's public speaking.

Eleanor Riepe, Second place in girl's prose reading.

Jimmie Neale, Third place in boy's prose reading.

Floyd Dickerson, Fourth place in spelling.

Motto
To Serve

The ideals of the Beta Club can best be expressed by the following portion of the Beta Creed: "As a member of the Beta Club and as a citizen of my community, state and nation, I believe in and shall strive to promote the principles of honesty . . . justice . . . service . . . cooperation . . . responsibility . . . industriousness . . . humility . . . (and) charity . . . I shall then be better able to contribute to the happiness of myself and others." These are the words by which Beta members live. Through the fulfillment of these ideals, they have become a respected portion of our student body.

Spanish Club

While receiving instruction concerning the language of Spain, these students are given the additional opportunity of learning about the country itself. At club meetings, the students acquire knowledge of the customs and geography of the country. With this knowledge comes a desire to speak the language. Once there is fluency in the language, there is also understanding of the people. Therein lie our hopes for international peace, and here, in a high school club, is the beginning.

Majorettes

One of the lasting memories of high school at Randolph-Henry is the beauty, color, and precision of the majorettes. With the band the girls formed the living R-H on the football field; this and other routines that the girls worked diligently to perfect brightened gridiron half-times, as well as parades away from school.

Beginning each football game with the Star Spangled Banner, and brightening each half-time with the Alma Mater, our band marches proudly forward in representation of the student body. The happy sound of their cadence proclaims the arrival of the Statesmen. As the monarchs of the past had music to delight them, so does Randolph-Henry boast of a present day band composed of her own students.

ATHLETICS

Physical development is the evident reward of participation in high school athletics, but the intangible results can be much more important to the individual. Here is another way to grow and to mature mentally and spiritually. The young men and girls on our teams, and the girls on the cheering squads who encourage them, profit immensely from each contest, be it won or lost. Good sportsmanship and sincere effort are the important elements of athletics. Keeping these in mind, the participants develop in the ability to think quickly, and to act quickly.

In the fall, the glory of the football season begins and leads the agonistic life at Randolph-Henry. The series of varied sports that follow offer wholesome entertainment for the Statesmen. High school without athletics is difficult to imagine, for they are an essential part of our year.

Football

Coaches and Captains
Mr. Rao, Robert Tucker, Billy Pollard, Mr. Frye

For the want of a good team, a coach was lost. For the want of a good coach, a team was lost. A winning team is not one which has more victories than defeats but one with a good relationship between coaches and the players. Through out the year these coaches have built up the morale and the playing ability of their players. Without their expert guidance and assistance even the outstanding team would find themselves lacking.

1960 Football Squad

The call words of the varsity football team are "hit 'em hard". Through a grilling 10 games this season, Randolph-Henry fought to a 3 - 7 record. These victories were primarily the result of long hours of practice and exercise. In a rough and tumble sport of this type, a player must be alert mentally and physically every second. A great amount of credit should be given to these boys who worked to make their school proud of the football squad.

Many future prospects have been noticed in the J V football team this season. As the boys serve out their time of apprenticeship, they acquire the skill and knowledge necessary to become outstanding players. J V is just as essential as Varsity, for without it, there would be no Varsity. The present Junior Varsity players of today will be the major Randolph-Henry players of tomorrow.

Randolph-Henry has always been able to pride itself of its baseball team. Precision is a top-notch characteristic of this sport, for a ball thrown a few inches off can mean the loss of the game. We congratulate the players for the fine job they did and wish sincerely that they continue to keep up the good work.

Cheerleaders

In every student body, there can be found a certain group of students who are bubbling over with an excess of school spirit—A group which is ever constantly cheering their team on to victory. Here at Randolph-Henry, the cheerleaders meet both qualifications. These girls have often made many sacrifices in order to attend games or any one of the numerous other functions they might be asked to participate in. The position held by these girls has too often been taken for granted. Thus, let us give more recognition to them and the outstanding job they are doing. Cheerleaders of Randolph-Henry, we salute you!

What's In A Name?

Not more than a handle. What's behind a name is what is important.

In the insurance business a good name means paying claims promptly. It means getting you the lowest rates . . . bringing you the latest information, handling your dollar as we would our very own. It means integrity every step of the way.

On this basis we solicit your business.
